1 Finnish economy

The impact of the Russian invasion of Ukraine on the Finnish economy is difficult to predict

Baseline scenario (April 2022) by the Ministry of Finance assumes limited duration of the war.

- Finland's economic growth will slow this year, but not stop or go into recession. Sanctions against Russia will slow growth to 1.5% in 2022.
- The sanctions have increased energy, oil, gas and electricity prices, however the price pressures are expected to ease.
- Consumer price inflation is expected to reach 4% in 2022.
- Exports to Russia account for around 4.5% of total exports. Interruption of all export to Russia would cut 1-1.5% of the Finnish GDP.

Risk scenario (April 2022) by the Ministry of Finance assumes prolonged war and expanded sanctions.

- The scenario assumes a complete discontinuation of trade in energy commodities with Russia. The lost energy supply would be replaced by energy sourced from elsewhere or by other forms of energy.
- Escalation of sanctions or the war would lead to larger effects on the Finnish economy and public finances.
- The GDP growth in this scenario would be 0.5% in 2022.

Output growth will not slow below potential output in Finland this year

- Exports to Russia are projected to contract significantly. The drop in exports mainly relates to goods, whereas service exports will remain strong.
- Due to uncertainty, investment growth is slowing, but housing starts remain at high level.
- The employment rate is very high.
- General government deficit continues to improve in 2022-2024.

Sustainability in Finland: current themes

- Finland ranks high in many comparisons and is by many metrics a global forerunner in sustainability
- Finland ranks #1 in the UN Sustainable Development Goals country ranking 2021
- The Government's climate neutrality goal is 2035 but current measures are not sufficient, therefore:
 - New Medium-term Climate Change Policy Plan 2022
 - Update of the Energy and Climate Strategy in 2022
- The Health and Social services reform 2023
- Tackling the COVID-19 aftermath

Finland

#5th least vulnerable country in the world to the negative impact of climate change

#5th most ready country to adopt to climate change.
